

OH, SEE WHAT HAPPENED TO APOXYOMENOS!

All Oklahoma Is Laughing About Prexy and Janitor Who Denatured Greek Sculpture.

Oklahoma City, March 4.—When the janitor of the South-western Normal unpacked the Apoxyomenos of Lysippas in the school basement he blushed and ran-hotfoot to President John

Two of the famous Greek statues after they were denatured by order of John Fletcher Sharp, whose attitude on art cost him his job as normal school president. Sharp's picture is shown above. The standing statue is the Apoxyomenos of Lysippas, and the seated figure is another antique chiselled by Janitor Tumey.